Transparency and Balance: A Villa Where Architecture Floats Above the Landscape

The villa is conceived as the superposition of two clearly differentiated volumes: a completely open and transparent base, and a more solid, compact upper structure that appears to rest lightly above the lower level. This dialogue between transparency and mass defines the architectural identity of the project, giving it an elegant and contemporary character.

The residence is set on a 2,707 m<sup>2</sup> plot and offers 995 m<sup>2</sup> of built area distributed across four floors, featuring 4 bedrooms, 4 bathrooms, and 3 guest toilets.

The ground floor is designed as a continuous and fluid space, free from visual interruptions, where large glazed enclosures disappear to fully integrate the interior with the terrace and surrounding water surface. The infinity pool becomes a natural extension of the architecture, occupying the foreground as a defining feature while reflecting both the house and its environment.

The upper volume, more compact and protected, accommodates the private areas of the home. It opens through large, carefully framed openings that create ...
